

Title: NTU and Temasek Foundation transfer technology know-how to China's quake-prone regions

Date: 28 August 2009

Source: www.Bio-Medicine.org

URL: <http://www.bio-medicine.org/biology-news-1/NTU-and-Temasek-Foundation-transfer-technology-knowhow-to-Chinas-quake-prone-regions-9723-1/>

Summary:

Singapore's Nanyang Technological University (NTU) and Temasek foundation are working together to bring earthquake resistance technology to regions in the People's Republic of China which are prone to earthquakes. Tapping NTU's expertise in earthquake engineering and seismic-resistant construction technologies, the programme aims to promote safer construction practices, achieve transfer of technology, and enhance the skills of those involved in China construction industry.