

Title: Two Leading Universities Announce New Agreement
Date: 2 September 2009
Source: NanoWerk
URL: <http://www.nanowerk.com/news/newsid=12432.php>

News Summary:

Two leading universities of the world, Nanyang Technological University (NTU), Singapore and Technische Universität München (TUM), Germany announced a new agreement on Monday, 31 Aug 09, that will enable both institutions to jointly offer highly attractive Doctor of Philosophy (PhD) programmes. The move will establish a broad base of doctoral programmes that will generate new research, as well as additional education and employment prospects for the students of both countries and beyond.