NBS MBA ranks 34th in FT global rankings

SiNGAPORE: Nanyang Business School (NBS) has been placed in the 34th position in the Financial Times annual ranking of the top 100 MBA programmes around the world in 2012.

It is the fourth straight year that NBS has been ranked among the world’s top 35, although it held the 33rd position last year.

NBS said its MBA graduates charted the highest salary level compared to other Singapore MBA graduates, with an average pay of US$102,350 a year, three years after graduation.

NBS’ MBA programme also ranks first in Singapore for the career progression opportunities and successful job placements offered to its graduates.

— CNA/cc

more singapore news

Shops hope anti—flood measures can be speeded up
Myanmar president’s visit marks new chapter in bilateral ties: President Tan
Football: S.League deputy CEO steps down
Lorry crane catches fire, no one injured
Number of registered property agents down 11% since new rules
Singapore and Myanmar sign MOU on technical programme
Former cabby jailed for molesting neighbour’s maid
PUB commits S$750m to fight flooding
Man accused of gropeing stewardess during flight acquitted
TriCom encourages responsible outsourcing
IDA tightens standards for mobile services
Woman placed on probation for having sex with father
SMRT to divert some bus services on Feb 5
NBS MBA ranks 34th in FT global rankings
NUS MBA retains place in global rankings
LTA revises ERP rates at three gantries
More shadow teachers for special needs pupils
River Hongbao attracts some 880,000 visitors over eight days
Accident along Andrew Road leaves luxury car in a ditch
More S’porean brides going online for wedding gowns stay in touch

@xinmsnnews

xinmsn.com (English) on Facebook