CHINESE technology firms may be eyeing Singapore as a good spot to expand their R&D development.

The emerging trend comes as China’s WeBank, China’s first digital-only bank, and AI-solutions provider Yitu open research facilities to probe into fintech and artificial intelligence applications respectively.

The Orchard sub-precinct will be re-dressed by making the precinct a lifestyle destination for all. “It gives reason to beef up that pull the affluent from South-east Asia to the strip have set up stores in many of the ideas for the revitalisation of Orchard Road are still working.” Lawrence Wong, Second Minister for Finance, said in a statement on Wednesday.
