Nanyang Technological University sets up China Strategy Group

Nanyang Technological University formed a China Strategy Group (CSG) under the President's Office in March 2004. The Director of CSG, Assoc Prof Tan Teng Kee, is also Director of NTU's Nanyang Technopreneurship Centre.

CSG aims to promote NTU's international education development in China by building a robust platform and creating a sustainable model for academic and research excellence. Its vision is to be the centre of competency in NTU that strategizes, plans, and coordinates all China-related educational activities to facilitate NTU's role as a major strategic partner of choice for China's leading universities and research institutes. Collaboration with these universities and institutions fall within four areas, namely, Teaching Programme, Research, Entrepreneurship, and Global Immersion Programme (China).

CSG helps perform and coordinate the following activities:

- Strategic planning and marketing
- Strategic partnership building
- Development of NTU's strategic programmes in China
- Sharing of resources and information
- Strengthening of alumni relations in China
- Facilitation of China-related multi-disciplinary research
- Development of entrepreneurial activities
