Tan Sri (Dr) Tan Chin Tuan, well-known for building the OCBC Group into a financial powerhouse in the 1950s to 1980s, was once described by the National Geographic magazine as the “emperor of finance”.

The spectacular growth of the companies under his stewardship attests to this accolade. From when he became director to the year* he retired from each company, shareholders’ funds appreciated considerably in value: Raffles Hotel – 303 per cent ($3.7 million in 1969); Robinsons – 1,298 per cent ($56 million in 1976*); Overseas Assurance Corporation – 2,709 per cent ($39 million in 1981*); OCBC – 7,702 per cent ($1208 million in 1983*); Fraser and Neave – 2,640 per cent ($290 million in 1983*); Asia Pacific Breweries – 1,632 per cent ($194 million in 1983*); Wearne Brothers Ltd – 389 per cent ($244 million in 1983*); Straits Trading – 2,997 per cent ($692 million in 1992*); and Great Eastern Life – 6,695 per cent ($226 million in 1992*).

For OCBC, 1000 shares bought in 1947 grew to 43,389 shares in 1983* while 1000 shares in GE acquired in 1956 increased to 393,846 shares in 1992*. A 1000-share holding in Straits in 1956 became 330,000 shares in 1992*. At APB, 1000 shares in 1951 became 16,875 shares in 1983* while 1000 F&N shares held from 1947 increased to 15,556 shares in 1983*. A 1000-share stake in WBL from 1957 became 8,438 shares in 1983*. A 1000-share holding in Raffles Hotel had doubled by 1978* while the same amount of shares in Robinson rose to 30,000 in 1976*.

Prior to Singapore’s independence, Tan Sri was appointed Deputy President of the Legislative Council, the highest position held by a British subject of Chinese descent. He often took the colonial rulers to task for their arbitrary treatment of the Asians in Singapore, declaring that “in a democratic state, there can only be one law for those who govern and those who are governed.”

In 1976, he established the Tan Foundation to promote his philanthropic causes. Having witnessed several historic events in the last century, Tan Sri, at the age of 96 in 2003, continues to face the future with his hallmark feisty enthusiasm.

* asterisk denotes the year when Tan Sri retired from the company
