SINGAPORE: There will soon be more opportunities for Singaporeans to forge closer ties with China.

Memoranda of Understanding have been inked between Business China - a Singapore organisation that promotes collaborations with China - and five of its working partners.

They are Nanyang Technological University, National Youth Council, news website omy.sg, Singapore Chamber of Commerce and Industry in China and the Singapore Chinese Chamber Institute of Business.

The MOUs will include internships and work attachments for undergraduates, more language and cultural programmes, and more training and networking opportunities for Chinese government officials and businessmen. - CNA/de
