The students queries touched upon issues such as education, science and technology policies of innovation in Singapore, and the digital and green economy partnership between the two countries.

They inquired into policies to promote cooperation among universities of Singapore and Vietnam, especially in areas of research, innovation and artificial intelligence. The students were also keen on learning the success story of Prime Minister Lee and his experience as a leader.

At the meeting, the two leaders witnessed the signing of a cooperation agreement between VNU-Hanoi, VNU-Ho Chi Minh City and Nanyang Technological University (TNU) of Singapore on the exchange of officials, lecturers, and students as well as ongoing and new scientific research.
