AI literacy courses are mandatory for all 'NTU' students from August.

Starting this August, Nanyang Technological University (NTU) will make AI courses mandatory for all students, expanding beyond computing students. Students will gain free access to premium Google AI tools like Gemini Enterprise, AI Studio, and Vertex AI. NTU Vice-President Professor Christian Wolfrum says these tools will enable students to create personal or research assistants, improving learning outcomes through personalized learning, knowledge sharing, and skills development. The initiative aims to introduce AI across all fields. The university has assessed the risks of AI usage, ensuring data security and preventing misuse.
