Dear Students

Many of you would have heard about IoT (Internet of Things), that is a key pillar in Industry 4.0. But have you heard of AIoT, which is emerging as a significant technology more recently?

Besides 5G network and Big Data, which are two technologies that power IoT, the real driving force behind IoT's full potential is none other than Artificial Intelligence (AI).

Currently, major AIoT Segments include:-

- 1) Wearables
- 2) Smart Home
- 3) Smart City
- 4) Smart Industries

While we observe an increasing use of AIoT, there is still much untapped potential. With its innovation only accelerating, we can expect to be led into a more connected future. Edge Computing, Voice A.I. and Vision A.I. are some future AIoT technologies to watch.

Category	Today	Future
Edge Computing	Smart thermostats Smart appliances	Home robots Autonomous vehicles
Voice A.I.	Smart speakers	Natural language processing (NLP) ePayment voice authentication
Vision A.I.	Massive object detection	Video analysis on the edge Super 8K resolution

The AIoT fusion is increasingly becoming more mainstream, as it continues to push the boundaries of data processing and intelligent learning for years to come.

Just like any company that blissfully ignored the Internet at the turn of the century, the ones who dismiss the Internet of Things risk getting left behind.
