Lab to Market: Driving Value Through Research & Innovation

From supporting its homegrown spinoffs to working with industry giants, NTU is creating game-changing solutions to real-world problems.

The University seeks to nurture entrepreneurs by mentoring and supporting students, faculty and alumni looking to turn their ideas into market-ready products, such as by licensing their research.

Other NTU scientists have dived into entrepreneurship and set up startups in areas ranging from nanotechnology to water treatment.

Researchers at NTU are also attuning themselves to real-world pain points through industry partnerships that leverage the expertise of major corporations.

Partnerships with industry also provide relevant training for students, which builds a talent pipeline with research and operational skills to address market needs.
