

New Program to Cultivate Future Business Leaders

NTU Singapore has launched the NBS Global Leaders programme - the University's sixth signature programme - to give students a 'supercharged' business education that lays the foundation for impactful global careers, and nurture them into confident leaders who can thrive in today's complex business landscape.

Offered by the Nanyang Business School (NBS) at NTU, the programme is open to business and/or accountancy students in the new academic year that begins in August 2025.

A key highlight of the programme is a semester-long exchange at the University of California, Berkeley's Haas School of Business, one of the world's best business schools where students can enhance their cultural intelligence, forge international connections, and develop a global mindset.

In their final year, students will work in teams to implement a meaningful initiative that tackles a pressing need for a chosen community with $10,000 in funding, such as starting a social enterprise or developing a new product that addresses a community need.

Other features of the programme include local and overseas internships, a structured six-month mentorship programme from top executives, and curated workshops to help students sharpen their business acumen and strengthen their soft skills.